Mahdi Dibaiee

Web developer who eats JavaScript from dawn to dawn.

---

mdibaiee@aol.com   +98 919 984 0989   Iran

Experiences

July 2014	July 2015	Qom's Holy Shrine	Qom, Iran
Web Developer Intern

I had an internship in Fatima Masumeh Shrine as a Web developer.

 I made two cross-platform desktop applications for them, one of which was a CMS with the ability to insert, edit and remove posts, categories, tags, sources, media attachments, etc. The other was a client to show these saved data with category tree, search, tags, and more.

Jan 2014	Present	Mozilla	Remote
Firefox Developer Tools Contributor

 I'm an active contributor of Firefox Developer Tools, I've added various tools to it and I'm familiar with the team. My main contributions include Drag and Drop re-ordering of Elements in Inspector, CSS Filter Tooltip, CSS Filter Presets, plus a bunch of other bugfixes. Such contributions mean I have the ability to work with teams, even remotely. Opensource, specially Mozilla requires readable and efficient code, and that's what I write. You can find my Bugzilla profile below.

 Also, my name can be found in Mozilla's Contributors.

Key Skills

JavaScript, Node, CSS, HTML5, UI/UX Design (Intermediate), Team Work, Electron, Phaser (Game development).

I have experience with the most recent Web technologies such as Web Audio API, Canvas, Web Workers, Broadcast Channels, ES6 and ES7.

Links

GitHub
My Blog
Mozillians
Bugzilla
LinkedIn
Medium

I Speak

Persian and English.

Interests

Music, Fitness, Parkour, Drawing, Walking, Gaming